

AI in Credit: What Works in Practice

Credit teams are under pressure to move faster, back better customers, and avoid risk, all with the same time and tools. The real challenge is not lack of data. It's too much of it, spread everywhere, with no clear signal on what matters. AI is changing that. In this session, Jordan Esbin, CEO and Founder of Credit Pulse, will lead us in a discussion on how teams are using AI in practice. Members will be invited to share what successes and challenges they are experiencing in utilizing AI.

Tuesday
June 2, 2026

10 AM CT

Zoom
Meeting

Your Host: Jordan Esbin

CEO and Founder Credit Pulse

Jordan has a proven track record of helping Fortune 500 companies design and execute robust risk management programs. With deep expertise across credit, financial, reputational, and political risk, he founded Credit Pulse to bring a more modern, data-driven approach to credit management. Today, he leads the company's mission to help credit teams detect risk earlier and make faster, more confident decisions with AI-powered insights.

Let's Connect!

